Highlights of Baseline Survey under Umiew & Ganol Catchments

The Centre of Excellence (CoE) under MBDA has initiated a baseline survey as part of the MegARISE Project to assess socio-economic, livelihood, and environmental conditions in villages within the Umiew and Ganol Catchments. This survey aims to gather essential data for planning future activities in the project areas. This in-depth assessment focused on land use, water resources, forest cover, biodiversity, and local livelihoods. Trained surveyors, deployed by the CoE, began the survey on September 2, 2024, and will continue across various villages throughout September and October.

PROTECTION OF VULNERABLE CATCHMENT AREAS IN MEGHALAYA

Highlights of PRA Exercise under Ganol Catchment at Selbalgre, Rongram Block: 27th - 28th Aug, 2024

A comprehensive PRA exercise was conducted, utilizing tools such as social mapping, wealth ranking, resource mapping, Venn diagrams, trench change, seasonal calendars, forest maps, ownership maps, Chapati clock diagrams, historical timelines, and SWOT analysis. During focus group discussions, the community highlighted critical issues including water scarcity, the endangerment of local seeds, and soil degradation.

A subsequent transect walk, led by the field engineer, revealed significant potential for implementing soil and water conservation measures. The observations also pointed to opportunities for enhancing plantation and village landscapes through agroforestry and SALT techniques, as well as the possibility of developing tourism in the area.
